

Embassy Suites Hotel

With all the fluorescent bulbs, timers, tweaked climate controls and energy management systems already in place at virtually every hotel in the nation, Gregory Case, General Manager of the Embassy Suites Hotel in Arcadia, California, said, "The only thing left is co-generation."

Case opted for one Capstone ICHP system with an eye to adding another later. Situated just around the corner from a block of guest rooms, Case said, "It gets plenty of visitors, including other hoteliers and quite a few nearby NASA engineers. Everyone who comes by is surprised that it's so quiet."
